

Spring Quarter 2016 Classics 210 5 cr VLPA

Greek and Roman Classics in English: The invention of western literature

HOMER·SAPPHO·SOPHOCLES·PLATO·VIRGIL·LIVY·LUCRETIUS·TACITUS

For more than two thousand years, Greek and Roman poetry, drama, history, and philosophy have been at the center of great conversations about love, mortality, power, and the search for the good life.

Join the entire faculty of the Department of Classics for team-taught lectures and discussion sections to explore how these texts talk to each other and how they can talk to you.

Lecture MWF 10:30-11:20 THOMSON 101 SLN 12388
+ Quiz section T TH at 10:30 or 11:30 SLN 12389-12392

Department of Classics, Condon 310

Questions? email clasdept@uw.edu